

Articling Program Assessment: Cross-Provincial Comparison

FULL REPORT

April 24, 2025

METHODOLOGY (IN DETAIL)

Research Purpose

The Law Societies of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and the Nova Scotia Barristers Society aim to enhance their understanding of articling experiences across their provinces. To identify common issues from different perspectives, they conducted two surveys: one for articling students and new lawyers, and another for principals, recruiters, and mentors.

The Law Societies of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan, as well as the Nova Scotia Barristers’ Society, invited their members to complete two 15-minute surveys from May 9 to June 20, 2024. Based on the data collected, province-specific reports were generated.

The next phase involves a cross-provincial analysis to compare each province's standing, identify strengths and areas for improvement, and potentially explore opportunities for collaboration to enhance articling experiences. Ultimately, the findings will help enrich the articling experience and better prepare students for legal practice, while fostering collaboration among the Law Societies to achieve shared objectives.

Target Audience

Screening questions at the beginning of the surveys were used to identify the target audience.

- To qualify to complete the student/new lawyer survey, individuals must have started their articling between 2019 and 2024 and either currently be an articling student or have completed their articling within the last five years.
- To qualify to complete the principal survey, a lawyer needed to have been in the role of a recruiter, principal or non-principal mentor of an articling student in the past five years.

Response Rates Achieved

The number of collected responses and response rates are listed in the table. Please note that an estimated participation rate cannot be determined for principals, recruiters and mentors because the roles of mentor and recruiter are not tracked by the Law Societies.

	Alberta	British Columbia	Manitoba	Nova Scotia	Saskatchewan
of student/new lawyer survey respondents	433	514	108	69	74
of principal, recruiter, and mentor survey respondents	344	298	45	19	44
Student/new lawyer survey response rate	14%	17%	19%	19%	17%

If a respondent opted to withdraw from the survey before completion, their responses were disregarded and not included in the survey's analysis.

The data was not weighted.

METHODOLOGY (IN DETAIL CONT'D)

Survey Limitations

These surveys represent a non-probability sample in which all lawyers, current articling students, and those who completed articling in the past five years were invited to participate using the email addresses registered with their respective law societies. Ensuring all eligible lawyers and articling students with an email address received the survey was intended to eliminate as much “coverage bias” as possible in this survey.

Similar to all online surveys, response bias and non-response bias still exist, which means the results may not be fully and truly representative of the sentiments of the legal profession in Canada overall and in each respective province.

Since all members of the population were invited to participate and some of those invited self-selected to complete the survey, the concept of margin of error, which is based on the assumption of random sampling, is not applicable to this research.

Reporting of Results

The following terms are used throughout the report.

Articling students refer to those who were articling when they completed the survey.

New lawyers refer to practising lawyers who started articling between 2019 and 2024.

Those who completed articling but are not practising combine those who have “completed articling and the bar admission program, but have not been called to the bar” and those who have been “called to the bar but are not currently working as a lawyer”.

Recruiters refer to those who have only been in the recruiter role in the past five years.

Principals refer to those who have only been in the principal role in the past five years.

Non-principal mentors refer to those who have only been in the mentor role in the past five years.

Additionally, throughout the report, when base sizes are below n=30, we reported the percentage with caution but did not highlight the result in the commentary or the ‘Highlights’ section. Smaller samples are susceptible to random fluctuations, which can lead to misleading interpretations.

METHODOLOGY (IN DETAIL CONT'D)

Indexing

Province-specific data in this report has been indexed to the total sample. Indexing is a statistical tool used in research to compare the incidence of a specific characteristic or behaviour between two samples, which are not usually mutually exclusive. It helps researchers understand how certain groups behave relative to a broader population.

Calculation of the index

The index is calculated by taking the percentage of a characteristic in the subsample and dividing it by the percentage of that characteristic in the total sample. This ratio is then multiplied by 100 to create the index value.

Interpretation

An index of 100 indicates that the subsample has the same incidence of the characteristic as the total sample.

An index above 120 indicates that the subsample has a higher incidence of the characteristic compared to the total sample, suggesting an upward skew.

An index below 80 indicates that the subsample has a lower incidence of the characteristic, suggesting a downward skew.

When a subsample (e.g. students/new lawyers in a specific province) over-indexes or under-indexes on a particular metric compared to the total sample, it indicates its above-average and below-average skews respectively. It means that this group exhibits that characteristic or behavior more or less frequently than the population represented by the total sample.

Throughout the report, indices above 120 are marked with an upward arrow (▲), indices below 80 are marked with a downward arrow (▼), and indices between 80 and 120 are indicated with a dash to represent parity with the Total (—). For enhanced clarity in the 'Highlights' section, the arrows are color-coded: green indicates a positive finding, red signifies an area of focus, and yellow represents neutral findings or cases where the interpretation is unclear.

Smaller numbers are more prone to over-indexing or under-indexing because even minor changes can result in significant percentage shifts. For instance, an increase from 2 to 3 represents a 50% increase, while an increase from 100 to 101 is only a 1% increase. This disproportionate impact can lead to misinterpretations and exaggerations of differences. To mitigate distortions from smaller numbers, this report does not index values when the total percentage for an answer option is below 10% of the overall respondents, and when the difference between the overall percentage and the province-specific percentage is less than 5%.

For example:

- if 6% of all respondents select "Not sure," we do not index the percentage for each province against this 6%, since $6\% < 10\%$;
- if 10% of total respondents choose "Prefer not to answer," and 6% of respondents from a specific province select this option, we will not consider the 6% as under-indexing, because the difference between 10% and 6% is 4% and $4\% < 5\%$.

Overall Highlights

NOTE: The percentages in this report represent the distribution of responses from survey participants. As outlined in the detailed methodology, results may not be fully and truly representative of the sentiments of the legal profession in Canada overall and in each respective province.

LAWYER COMPETENCE: PREPAREDNESS FOR ENTRY-LEVEL PRACTICE

Of the respondents, student/new lawyers’ confidence in their preparedness for entry-level practice is consistent across all provinces, except in Nova Scotia, where a notably higher number of students, new lawyers and those who completed articling but are not practising felt ‘very prepared’ + ‘prepared’.

▲ Notably higher than Total Sample (i.e. over-indexes vs. total, >120)

LAWYER COMPETENCE: ADEQUACY OF TRAINING

Students/new lawyer respondents from Alberta and Nova Scotia were more likely to strongly agree that they received adequate training in most of the competencies listed, while those from British Columbia were less likely to hold such a positive perception. There was less differentiation in responses provided by principals, recruiters and mentors.

COMPENSATION (student/new lawyer survey responses only)

Compensation was a greater challenge for Manitoba students/new lawyer respondents compared to their peers from other provinces. Conversely, those in Alberta identified compensation as a positive aspect of their articling experience.

▲ Notably higher than Total Sample (i.e. over-indexes vs. total, >120) — Comparable to Total Sample (i.e. parity with Total, >80, <120) ▼ Notably lower than Total Sample (i.e. under-indexes vs. total, <80)		● Positive ● Neutral ● Area of Focus

DISCRIMINATION AND / OR HARASSMENT DURING RECRUITMENT AND / OR ARTICLING

The overall number of students/new lawyer respondents reporting experiences of discrimination or harassment is consistent across the provinces, although Saskatchewan has a lower score, likely due to a smaller proportion of equity-seeking groups in its sample. While principal, recruiter, and mentor respondents in Manitoba reported a higher number of students facing these issues, student/new lawyer responses in Manitoba align with the average across all provinces.

▼ Notably lower than Total Sample (i.e. under-indexes vs. total, <80)

* NOTE: Women and other equity-seeking groups in Saskatchewan experienced discrimination and/or harassment at rates comparable to their peers in other provinces. Therefore, the finding that all Saskatchewan respondents report lower instances of experiencing discrimination and/or harassment (23% compared to the overall 29%) will be attributed to the lower representation of equity-deserving groups among the Saskatchewan respondents.

RESOURCES TO ADDRESS DISCRIMINATION AND / OR HARASSMENT

Student and new lawyer respondents from Alberta were more likely to believe that appropriate resources for addressing discrimination and harassment were available to them.

Student/New Lawyer vs. Principal / Recruiter / Mentor Survey Findings: Summary of Differences

DIFFERENCES IN PERCEPTIONS: PREPAREDNESS FOR ENTRY-LEVEL PRACTICE

Principal, recruiter, and mentor respondents across most provinces expressed greater confidence in students' level of preparedness for entry-level practice, compared to articling students, new lawyers and those who completed articling but are not practising.

DIFFERENCES IN PERCEPTIONS: ADEQUACY OF TRAINING BY COMPETENCY

Principal, recruiter, and mentor respondents have a more positive perception of the adequacy of training in various competency areas, compared to articling students, new lawyers, and those who completed articling but are not currently practising.

DIFFERENCES IN PERCEPTIONS: TIME TO COMPLETE BAR ADMISSION COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Principal, recruiter and mentor respondents are more likely to believe that students are allocated sufficient time to complete the bar admission course, specifically over 6 hours per week. In contrast, fewer student/new lawyer respondents report actually being given that amount of time or any time at all.

DIFFERENCES IN PERCEPTIONS: EXPERIENCES OF DISCRIMINATION / HARASSMENT

In all provinces, a smaller number of principal, recruiter, and mentor respondents indicated that students at their firm or organization experienced discrimination and / or harassment, compared to the number of students who claimed to have had those experiences.

Experiences of Discrimination and / or Harassment During Recruitment and / or Articling*

* Composed of respondents who answered 'yes' to at least one of the four discrimination and/or harassment-related questions (Q48–52).

DIFFERENCES IN PERCEPTIONS: RESOURCES

There is a substantial disconnect in perceptions of availability of resources to address EDI, well-being and mental health issues, whereby principal, recruiter and mentor respondents have a much more positive perception of availability of these resources. There is an opportunity to increase awareness of what is available among students.

Detailed Findings

RESPONDENTS' CURRENT ROLES

Across all provinces, the majority of respondents were new lawyers and principals. Alberta exhibited higher-than-average engagement among current articling students, but lower engagement among mentors. In contrast, British Columbia and Nova Scotia had a lower representation of articling students. However, British Columbia demonstrated higher participation rates among non-principal mentors.

TIME TO COMPLETE BAR ADMISSION PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS DURING BUSINESS HOURS

Across provinces, over half of the student respondents enrolled in regular PREP reported that they received time during business hours to fulfill their bar admission course requirements, with students in Saskatchewan being the most likely to receive this support. Notably, a greater proportion of principal, recruiter, and mentor respondents across jurisdictions believe that students are given time to complete PREP compared to the students themselves.

PERCEIVED ADEQUACY OF TRAINING BY COMPETENCY

Student/new lawyer respondents from Alberta and Nova Scotia were more likely to ‘strongly agree’ that they received adequate training in over half of the competencies listed. In contrast, students/new lawyers from British Columbia were the least likely to express such positive perceptions. Perceptions of principals, recruiters and mentors were overall more positive.

WHO WERE THE PRIMARY MENTORS

In all five provinces, the principal or another lawyer at the firm was most commonly the primary mentor.

AGREEMENT WITH STATEMENTS ABOUT THE MENTORSHIP ARTICLING STUDENTS RECEIVE

Perceptions of mentorship are largely similar across provinces; however, students/new lawyer respondents from Manitoba expressed below-average agreement about receiving regular feedback on their work performance.

KEY CHALLENGES

Managing workload is a significant challenge across all five provinces, though it is less pronounced in Saskatchewan. In Manitoba, the biggest challenge for students/new lawyer respondents is not being paid or receiving minimal pay, whereas this issue is less common in Alberta. Nova Scotia students/new lawyers were less likely to cite lack of clarity and structure to their role as challenges.

KEY CHALLENGES

A major challenge for everyone, particularly principals, recruiters, and mentors in Manitoba, is the lack of time to mentor articling students. Respondents in British Columbia, more so than in other provinces, also highlighted a lack of training, tools and resources to support articling students, as well as unclear expectations for principals, recruiters, and mentors. Respondents in Saskatchewan noted difficulties in training students across all competency areas and providing exposure to various practice areas.

IMPACT OF COVID-19 PANDEMIC

Half or more of the respondents from all provinces felt that COVID-19 negatively impacted students' articling experiences, with Nova Scotia showing a higher-than-average perception of this effect. Overall, negative effects of COVID-19 were more likely to be reported by principals, recruiters, and mentors than by students and new lawyers.

AVAILABILITY OF MENTAL HEALTH SUPPORTS

Saskatchewan students and new lawyer respondents, along with British Columbia principal, recruiter and mentor respondents, demonstrated a higher perception of the availability of mental health resources. In contrast, students and new lawyer respondents from Manitoba and Nova Scotia were more uncertain about their availability.

Articling Students, New Lawyers & Those Who Completed Articling but are not Practising

Are/were there appropriate mental health supports available at the firm/organization where you are/were articling to help you with managing stress, anxiety, etc.?

Principals, Recruiters & Non-Principal Mentors

Are mental health resources available at your firm/organization for articling students who may need support with things like stress management, anxiety, etc.?

! Caution: low base size

ENCOURAGEMENT TO ACCESS AVAILABLE MENTAL HEALTH SUPPORTS

Across all five provinces, firms and organizations that provided mental health resources actively encouraged articling students to use them when needed.

Articling Students, New Lawyers, and Those who Completed Articling but are not Practising

Did your firm/organization encourage accessing the available mental health supports if needed?

Principals, Recruiters & Non-Principal Mentors

AWARENESS OF THE LAWYERS' ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Awareness of the lawyers' assistance program is consistently high across all five provinces, especially among principal, recruiter and mentor respondents.

Articling Students, New Lawyers, and Those who Completed Articling but are not Practising

Are you aware of the lawyers' assistance program in your province?

Principals, Recruiters and Non-Principal Mentors

Are you aware of the lawyers' assistance program in your province?

NEED FOR ADDITIONAL RESOURCES THAT WOULD ASSIST WITH LAWYER COMPETENCE

Overall, 15% of student/new lawyer survey respondents believe that additional resources could enhance the competence of new lawyers. However, this perception was less common among Nova Scotia students and new lawyers, as well as Manitoba and Saskatchewan principals, recruiters and mentors.

Articling Students, New Lawyers, and Those who Completed Articling but are not Practising

Were there any other resources from the Law Society that would have assisted you with lawyer competence during your articles?

Principals, Recruiters and Non-Principal Mentors

Were there any other resources from the Law Society that would have assisted you or your students with teaching/learning lawyer competence?

LIKELIHOOD OF RECOMMENDING ARTICLES / TAKING ON ARTICLING STUDENTS IN THE FUTURE

The likelihood of recommending the firm or organization where the articling took place is generally consistent across provinces, as is the intention of principals, recruiters, and mentors to take on articling students.

Articling Students, New Lawyers, and Those who Completed Articling but are not Practising

Now thinking more generally about where you article/articled, would you recommend it to articling students in the future?

Principals, Recruiters and Non-Principal Mentors

Based on your experiences as a principal/recruiter/mentor, how likely are you to take on an articling student again in the future?

! Caution: low base size

SATISFACTION WITH ARTICLING EXPERIENCE

The level of satisfaction with the articling experience is generally consistent across all five provinces.

DISCRIMINATION / HARASSMENT DURING RECRUITMENT PROCESS / ARTICLING

The number of student/new lawyer respondents who experienced discrimination and/or harassment, either during recruitment or while articling, is consistent across provinces, with only respondents from Saskatchewan reporting fewer instances. In Manitoba, principals, recruiters and mentors were more likely to have had a candidate indicating they experienced discrimination and / or harassment.

Articling Students, New Lawyers, and Those who Completed Articling but are not Practising

During the recruitment process for your articling position / During your articling, did you experience discrimination / harassment related to your age, ancestry, colour, race, citizenship, ethnic origin, place of origin, creed, disability, family status, marital status, religion, gender identity, gender expression, sex and/or sexual orientation, or other factors?

Principals, Recruiters and Non-Principal Mentors

Has your firm/organization ever had a candidate indicate that they have been discriminated against / harassed related to age, ancestry, colour, race, citizenship, ethnic origin, place of origin, creed, disability, family status, marital status, religion, gender identity, gender expression, sex and/or sexual orientation, or other factors during the recruitment process / their articling experience?

* Composed of respondents who answered 'yes' to at least one of the four discrimination and/or harassment-related questions (Q48–52).

- ▲ Notably higher than Total Sample (i.e. over-indexes vs. total, >120)
- Comparable to Total Sample (i.e. parity with Total, >80, <120)
- ▼ Notably lower than Total Sample (i.e. under-indexes vs. total, <80)

DISCRIMINATION / HARASSMENT DURING RECRUITMENT ONLY / ARTICLING ONLY BY SUBGROUP

Women in Saskatchewan reported experiencing discrimination and/or harassment on par with other provinces. While fewer Saskatchewan respondents who identified as racialized, 2SLGBTQIA+, or Indigenous reported such experiences, their base size is too small to draw any definitive conclusions.

Articling Students, New Lawyers, and Those who Completed Articling but are not Practising

During the recruitment process for your articling position / During your articling, did you experience discrimination / harassment related to your age, ancestry, colour, race, citizenship, ethnic origin, place of origin, creed, disability, family status, marital status, religion, gender identity, gender expression, sex and/or sexual orientation, or other factors?

AVAILABILITY OF RESOURCES TO ADDRESS DISCRIMINATION AND/OR HARASSMENT

In all provinces, most principal, recruiter, and mentor respondents reported having access to resources for addressing discrimination and harassment, while few student/new lawyer respondents felt these resources were available. While students/new lawyers in Alberta and Saskatchewan were more likely to perceive having access to such resources, Saskatchewan respondents were also most likely to feel unsure about their availability.

Articling Students, New Lawyers, and Those who Completed Articling but are not Practising

Were resources available to address the discrimination or harassment you experienced?

▲ Notably higher than Total Sample (i.e. over-indexes vs. total, >120)

Principals, Recruiters and Non-Principal Mentors

If an articling student believes they have been discriminated against or harassed by someone in your firm/organization, is there a place they can confidentially address their concerns?

NEED FOR ADDITIONAL RESOURCES THAT WOULD ASSIST WITH EQUITY, DIVERSITY & INCLUSION ISSUES

Across all five provinces, nearly half of the student and new lawyer respondents, as well as principal, recruiter and mentor respondents, were uncertain about the need for additional resources from the Law Society to support EDI issues. Students/new lawyers in Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan were more likely NOT to feel that such resources were necessary.

Articling Students, New Lawyers, and Those who Completed Articling but are not Practising

Were there any other resources from the Law Society that would have assisted you with equity, diversity and inclusion or well-being issues during your articles?

Principals, Recruiters and Non-Principal Mentors

Were there any other resources from the Law Society that would have assisted you or your students with dealing with equity, diversity and inclusion or well-being issues?

REASONS FOR NOT REPORTING

Notably more Manitoba student/new lawyer respondents refrained from reporting instances of discrimination and/or harassment, compared to the overall student population surveyed. Student/new lawyer respondents in British Columbia were most likely to cite fear of reprisal and lack of trust as reasons for not reporting.

- ▲ Notably higher than Total Sample (i.e. over-indexes vs. total, >120)
- Comparable to Total Sample (i.e. parity with Total, >80, <120)

BODIES TO WHICH DISCRIMINATION AND/OR HARASSMENT ISSUES WERE REPORTED

In all provinces, those who reported experiencing discrimination and / or harassment were most likely to report to their firm or organization, rather than other bodies.

Articling Students, New Lawyers, and Those who Completed Articling but are not Practising

Did you report the discrimination/harassment you experienced during articling or the recruitment process to any of the following bodies?

▲ Notably higher than Total Sample (i.e. over-indexes vs. total, >120)

QUESTIONNAIRE

Articling Survey for Articling Students or New Lawyers

[INTRO SCREEN]

Survey Purpose

The Law Societies of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan are seeking to deepen their understanding of articling experiences in the provinces. Through two distinct surveys—one targeting articling students and new lawyers, and the other tailored for principals, recruiters and mentors—we aim to identify parallel issues from their unique perspectives.

The results of this survey will provide insight into the provincial articling systems, highlighting areas that need improvement or change. The survey will assist law societies in making informed decisions about programs and resources, particularly in relation to articling, lawyer competence, and equity, diversity, and inclusion. Ultimately, we hope this will help us to enrich the articling experience and better prepare articling students for the practice of law in the future.

Furthermore, this survey is part of a broader collaboration among the Law Societies of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan. The findings will facilitate cross-provincial comparisons, offering valuable insights into how we can collectively enhance the articling experience to meet our shared objectives.

What is Involved?

This survey uses largely multiple choice questions, with no right or wrong answers. It should take approximately 15–20 minutes to complete. Topics covered include training adequacy, mentor relationships, preparedness for early practice, positive aspects, challenges and experiences of harassment and discrimination, as defined by the respondent. We'll also ask for basic demographic and legal training details.

Multiple choice questions are mandatory for our research purposes, but open-ended questions remain optional so you can choose whether to share further details of any experiences. You also have the choice to interrupt or withdraw from the survey at any time. If you choose to withdraw, any data contributed will be promptly discarded and excluded from the survey's analysis.

Incentive

After completing the survey, you'll be directed to a 'thank you' page where you have the option to enter your information for a chance to win an incentive. Respondents from Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan will have the chance to win a free course from the education society/continuing professional development program in their jurisdiction (some exclusions may apply). Respondents from Nova Scotia will have the chance to win one ticket to the Canadian Bar Association – Nova Scotia Branch's Bench & Bar Dinner, sitting with Nova Scotia Barristers' Society leadership.

It is important to know that if you choose to enter the contest, your information will remain unlinked from your survey responses, ensuring the anonymity and confidentiality of your articling survey answers.

[INTRO SCREEN]

Survey Purpose

The Law Societies of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan are seeking to deepen their understanding of articling experiences in the provinces. Through two distinct surveys—one targeting articling students and new lawyers, and the other tailored for principals, recruiters and mentors—we aim to identify parallel issues from their unique perspectives.

The results of this survey will provide insight into the provincial articling systems, highlighting areas that need improvement or change. The survey will assist law societies in making informed decisions about programs and resources, particularly in relation to articling, lawyer competence, and equity, diversity, and inclusion. Ultimately, we hope this will help us to enrich the articling experience and better prepare articling students for the practice of law in the future.

Furthermore, this survey is part of a broader collaboration among the Law Societies of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan. The findings will facilitate cross-provincial comparisons, offering valuable insights into how we can collectively enhance the articling experience to meet our shared objectives.

QUESTIONNAIRE

Articling Survey for Principals, Recruiters & Mentors

What is Involved?

This survey uses largely multiple choice questions, with no right or wrong answers. It should take approximately 15–20 minutes to complete. Topics covered include training adequacy, mentor relationships, preparedness for early practice, positive aspects, challenges and experiences of harassment and discrimination, as defined by the respondent. We'll also ask for basic demographic and legal training details.

Multiple choice questions are mandatory for our research purposes, but open-ended questions remain optional so you can choose whether to share further details of any experiences. You also have the choice to interrupt or withdraw from the survey at any time. If you choose to withdraw, any data contributed will be promptly discarded and excluded from the survey's analysis.

Incentive

After completing the survey, you'll be directed to a 'thank you' page where you have the option to enter your information for a chance to win an incentive. Respondents from Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan will have the chance to win a free course from the education society/continuing professional development program in their jurisdiction (some exclusions may apply). Respondents from Nova Scotia will have the chance to win one ticket to the Canadian Bar Association – Nova Scotia Branch's Bench & Bar Dinner, sitting with Nova Scotia Barristers' Society leadership.

It is important to know that if you choose to enter the contest, your information will remain unlinked from your survey responses, ensuring the anonymity and confidentiality of your articling survey answers.

[INTRO SCREEN]

Confidentiality and Data Security

Your survey responses are anonymous and confidential. We analyze data for trends and improvements, ensuring findings are not linked to personal identities when presented publicly. Following the data analysis, we are committed to sharing anonymized summary findings in a report to the profession from each Law Society.

This survey is administered through the Law Society of Alberta's SurveyMonkey account. All collection, use and disclosure of information by the Law Society will be carried out in accordance with its Privacy Policy. Your use of the SurveyMonkey platform is subject to its Terms of Use and Privacy Notice. We will download all responses collected in connection with our surveys from SurveyMonkey and request the deletion of responses by SurveyMonkey as soon as is reasonably practicable.
